A P P L Y	In his earthly life, the rich man did little more than pass by the needy Lazarus each day. Then in death, the man reveals his true self even more as he looks for Lazarus, but only now because Lazarus can finally do something for him. How we treat others, no matter who they are, is so important to Jesus. As children of God, who have been blessed with so much, we should never regard another as not worthy of our time or consideration. We are called to be kind, to share of ourselves and our blessings with ALL of God’s children (including those we might need to step outside our walls of comfort to reach). Think about a situation in your life where you shared with another and what you learned from that experience?
P R A Y E R	Dear God-Help us to see more clearly each day...to recognize others for who they are...children of God just like us. May our words and actions towards all people reflect the love your son, Jesus, modeled for us all. In your name we pray. Amen.
